About the Artists

Dr. Louise LaBruyère is an active teacher, choral director, singer, pianist, and composer in the New Orleans area. She received her doctorate in choral music from the University of Colorado in Boulder and her masters and undergraduate degrees in piano performance and music theory and composition respectively from Loyola University in New Orleans. Dr. LaBruyère currently teaches at Loyola University, Benjamin Franklin High School, and Lusher Elementary Charter school, and is music director at St. Agnes Catholic Church in Jefferson and directs the Jefferson Chorale. Her choirs have performed throughout the United States and Europe and have received accolades from audiences and judges alike.

Kristin Valley Albarado, pianist, is a New Orleans area native. She holds degrees in piano pedagogy and performance from Loyola University and Louisiana State University. She is an active freelance musician in the New Orleans area. Current activities include Director of Sacred Music at St Joseph Church in Gretna, LA, accompanist for several school and community choirs as well as accompanist for several performing artists, honor choirs, and musicals. She also has an active piano teaching studio and enjoys a variety of other local gigs. Her greatest accomplishments besides her work are her two beautiful children. She resides in the Lakeview area.

Andrew Fath was born and raised in New Orleans. An active recitalist, Andrew has a great love for chamber music and the performance of contemporary music. He received a Bachelor of Music in piano performance from Loyola University where he studied with Jac McCracken, Dr. John Murphy, and Dr. Brian Hsu. Moving to Chicago in 2015, he pursued a Master’s in piano pedagogy at Northeastern Illinois University, studying with Dr. Susan Tang. Andrew is currently a staff accompanist at Loyola University and teaches private piano lessons.
